Nazi Forces On Adriatic Join Retreat

Germans Withdraw From Adriatic Sector Of Italy
In General Retreat

FIFTH ARMY IS STILL ADVANCING

NAPLES, June 9.—German forces on the Adriatic sector of the Italian battle-front pulled back to the north today to join in the general retreat of Nazi Field Marshal Albert Kesselring's battered armies north of Rome.

Troops of the Allied Fifth Army maintained a swift pace in the drive above Rome and forces of the British Eighth Army moved up through central Italy and along the Adriatic behind the retreating Germans.

Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson's headquarters reported that after a number of explosions were observed, the enemy began to "withdraw" in the Adriatic sector and Tollo was occupied.

"Our troops also have taken Agosta, Palombara, Sabina, Satri and Caprarola," added the announcement.

Pursue Fleeing Nazis

As the Americans swept forward on the heels of the fleeing Nazis, Allied warplanes blasted some 365 more German transport vehicles and smashed 28 railroad cars in sorties over the battle areas above the eternal city.

The Germans continued their withdrawal west of the Tiber River, and the Fifth Army spearheads moved into the vicinity of Lake Bracciano, 34 miles north of Rome.

The latter troops occupied Sabina, while others moved ahead another seven miles toward the village of Agosta on the eastern flank.

The British Eighth Army's progress, which has been slow due to enemy-placed mines and destroyed bridges, picked up somewhat and drove to within 20 miles of the liberated Italian capital.

Commando Raids Gave Invaluable Aid For Invasion

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
(Written Especially for N. S.)

NEW YORK, June 9.—Allied headquarters has announced that the beachheads of the west coast of France have been captured and consolidated, and that the local German reserves have been defeated.

In other words, the first great offensive against western Europe has accomplished its initial objectives. However, few persons in the Allied world have stopped to realize the years of work and the lives which have been dedicated to the production of the technique which made the present greatest amphibious expedition a success.

With no minimizing of the wonderful work of preparation that has been accomplished by General Eisenhower and his staff, most of the credit for the spade work of experimentation and the development of the technique belongs to the British commandos and their most famous ex-commander Lord Louis Mountbatten.

Continuous Raids
The commandos for three years past have made continuous raids against enemy-held territory. Those were directly largely at the west coast of Europe, but they even went so far afield as to include operations in Northern Africa and the Far Eastern area. Every one of those raids and every Allied inva-

MOSCOW, June 9.—Soviet forces long holding defensive positions north of Iasi, smashed the Germans from important high ground above the Romanian communication center today in what may be the initial phase of the long-anticipated eastern offensive against Germany.

The German DNB agency said the Red Army has launched a major offensive "over a broad front." The new Soviet drive, according to the agency, was based in the last center where the Russians advanced "several kilometers on the central and left wings."

There was nothing to indicate in the regular Soviet communiques that the new thrusts were anything more than local actions, the bulletin referring to them merely as "engagements for improvement of the Russian positions."

However, no sooner did the engagements get underway than one Red army formation drove the enemy from what was officially described as a "height of considerable importance." The day before, the Nazis had been forced to yield two more such positions.

Col. Bagby Tells Of Jump
Of First Waves Of U. S.
Paratroopers

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 9.—(INS)—With bloodshot eyes and a heavy growth of beard, Col. B. Bagby of Evanston, Ill., ninth troop carrier command glider pilot and paratrooper authority, who jumped with the first wave of U. S. paratroopers in the invasion, was back in England today to report on airborne troop activities.

Col. Bagby, completely exhausted from his experiences, is the first paratrooper to return to England from the battle of Normandy, but others are expected to return during the next few days.

Col. Bagby reported that the paratroopers captured bridges, viaducts, German gun positions, pillboxes, road junctions and other military objectives speedily and with very little opposition.

"Casualties among our boys were so light it was almost unbelievable," stated Col. Bagby.

Meanwhile, President Roosevelt is reported to have completely regained his health and the Chief Executive is ready to face whatever tasks may lay before him in the coming months—a fourth term campaign or another trans-oceanic journey for an Allied war strategy conference. The state of Mr. Roosevelt's restored health is made public by his physician, Vice Admiral Ross T. McIntire.

There may be a bitter clash between President and Congress over revision of the price control act. Such belief is expressed by administration leaders. A price control bill, with liberalizing amendments, congressional chiefs say, may be vetoed.

On Capital Hill today Sen. Ferguson (R. Mich.), says he has asked Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO's political action committee, to bare his organization's "secret files." AIRMEN DEFIED WEATHER IN NIGHT

LONDON, June 9.—Royal Air Force heavy bombers defied bad weather during the night and early today to blast five strategic railway junctions in France and Nazi troop concentrations in the battle area.

The principal assaults were loosed against the railway and communication centers of Rennes, Fougères, Alençon, Mayenne and Pontaubault.

"There was a chain of fire blazing just beyond the battle area shortly before dawn," the air ministry quoted returning pilots as saying.

Could See Firing

"Here and there we could see guns firing. Ships appeared to be bombarding the coast."

A London radio broadcast heard by CBS said that "every railway bridge over the Seine between Paris and the sea has been destroyed."

Speedy Mosquito bombers harassed German reinforcement transports during the night.

The air ministry said that the Germans had sent 60 planes over the invasion area yesterday. The Allies shot down 10 without loss to themselves.

German broadcasts indicated Allied craft were over both the Reich and Austria in the early hours of darkness and over Austria again later today.

Italian Leaders Seeking To Form New Government

ROME, June 9.—(INS)—Italian political leaders strove today to establish a new government under the direction of Crown Prince Umberto as lieutenant general of the realm.

Members of the Rome and Naples liberation committees and such prominent leaders as Count Carlo Sforza, Benedetto Croce and former Premier Ivanhoe Bonomi, who is favored to lead the new government, engaged in a series of conferences.

The London radio, according to CBS, said that Signor Bonomi, whom Prince Umberto asked to form a new Italian government to replace that of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, is said "to have stipulated that the new ministers should swear an oath of loyalty to the fatherland instead of to the monarchy."

Germans Admit Beachhead Has Been Strengthened

LONDON, June 9.—(INS)—The Allies have succeeded in strengthening their beachhead on the Normandy coast, the German high command admitted today.

A broadcast communique asserted that the success was achieved at the cost of "high losses through the attacks of German naval forces and the Luftwaffe."

The Nazi high command claimed that a German counter-attack east of the Orne river had gained further ground.

"Our panzer spearheads which have passed to the counter-attack from the area of Caen are now engaged in heavy fighting southeast of Bayeux."

"The enemy advancing from his St. Mere-Eglise bridgehead to the north and south was able to gain but little ground in the face of the stubborn resistance of our troops."

He said he set two alternative dates—between the 22nd of June and the 30th of June and between the 4th and 14th of July. No subjects for the conference, he said, were mentioned.

Making Progress Says President About Invasion

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 9.—President Roosevelt said today that Allied forces in Normandy are making slow progress—but progress.

The chief executive said that was the only word this morning from the French beachhead area. Our forces are making slow progress, he repeated, but that still is progress.

In addition, he said that the channel waters today are rougher, making the landing of more supplies more difficult.

The president was asked whether there has yet been any word of an Allied capture of the important town of Caen. He replied in the negative.

Battle Under Way

Military analysts believe the crucial major battle for the Normandy beachhead is underway as both Allied and enemy announcements spoke of mounting intensity in fighting all along the invaded French coast.

There was no disposition among experts, however, to predict when or where the fighting would reach its climax.

As the pattern of invasion unfolded, control of Cherbourg and

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 9.—(INS)—All fishermen in Norway, Holland, Denmark, Belgium and France were warned today by an Allied command spokesman to cease fishing for one week.

The warning was issued in the name of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme commander of Allied operations against western Europe.

The order directed all fishermen now in port to remain there and told all those now at sea to return to port immediately.

"Failure to do so may be fatal to yourselves and hinder operations of the Allied force."

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 9.—(INS)—Allied capture of Ste. Mere-Eglise, 18 miles south of the great port of Cherbourg, and occupation of the ancient town of Formigny on the Norman coast were announced by the Allied supreme command today.

Operations in the invasion area are making satisfactory progress, the announcement said, and the beachhead continues to be enlarged against stiffening resistance.

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 9.—Allied capture of the historic French city of Formigny on the northern coast of France midway between the two principal beachheads established in invaded Europe was revealed at supreme headquarters today.

Allied forces now are pushing beyond Formigny. Dispatches from the battlefront released through Allied censorship, disclosed the town had been taken last night.

Formigny, scene of a historic battle in the hundred years' war, lies on the road between captured Bayeux and Isigny, which parallels the English channel coast.

Simultaneously, the British radio revealed that all railway bridges on the Seine between Paris and the sea have been destroyed, while German broadcasts acknowledged a five mile Allied thrust from Bayeux toward the Cherbourg peninsula.

Lieut. Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, commander of American ground forces in France, personally went ashore at Formigny to witness the occupation.

Formigny holds a unique place in history as the first battlefield where artillery was brought into action in place of the medieval bow and arrow. This was in the year 1450.

First Infantry Division Adds To Record List

By JOHN S. LEE
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

AT HEADQUARTERS OF THE 21ST ALLIED ARMY GROUP, June 8.—(Delayed)—The famed First United States Infantry Division added new glory to its long list of "firsts" achieved in two wars today as the Battle of France raged to increased ferocity with the Allies making additional progress despite stiffening enemy opposition.

The First Division's record shows that it was the first American unit of its size to arrive in France during the last war, first to meet the enemy, first to attack as well as to take ground and suffer casualties. Moreover, it was the first to be cited in general orders.

Likewise, in this war, the First Division played a stellar role in the North African and Sicilian campaigns, before returning to England to prepare for the invasion of France.

A high staff officer of the 21st Army group, revealing that the first again in action in France, stressed that it has greatly added to its laurels during the past few days. He said also that the British 50th Northumberland Division, which likewise served in North Africa and Sicily, also has been doing excellent work during the present operations.

Making progress in the battle-front indicated that the Allies were making progress and building up their forces everywhere.

The quality of the German resistance is very high, and it is a tribute to the courage and tenacity of the Allied Forces that they managed to get ashore and gain a foothold against this opposition.

Inside the Allied perimeter, several Nazi pockets are being pinched and mopped up, and one Allied unit alone claims to have taken "hundreds" of German prisoners.

"It's been magnificent. Our aircraft is in the sky all the time," military observers remarked.

These same observers said the Germans defending the coast are not as high-class troops as those which the Canadians met in Sicily.

So terrific was the weight of bombs dropped on the coastal batteries prior to the landings that it is estimated fully 75 percent of the enemy's defense guns were neutralized by the time the assault wave went in.

One battery was so heavily bombed and shelled that it could not be found by the troops sent in to deal with it.

COMMANDO RAIDS GAVE INVALUABLE AID FOR INVASION

sion has produced valuable experience, all of which has been compiled and used to make the present assault against Europe successful.

And all of those raids led up to the great assault at Dieppe, France which commenced on the morning of the 19th of August, 1942. The Allied world criticized the Dieppe operation as costing too many men to offset the gains obtained. Actually, the raid at Dieppe because of information gained, has saved thousands on thousands of lives of Allied soldiers in operations which have taken place since.

The results of the Allied invasion of North Africa, the capturing of the islands of Pantelleria and Sicily, the assault against the Italian peninsula, the desperate fighting at Guadalcanal and the bloody field of Tarawa, with all other landing operations on both global flanks have been painstakingly compiled and the results tabulated. Most of that work was done by the British commandos. The results of that work are responsible today for the successful Allied landing operations on the Normandy coast of France.

To Get Peninsula

"It is very important that we get that peninsula," a competent military strategist observed in analyzing the invasion situation.

He asserted that the Allies had the choice of sealing off the peninsula by throwing a strong line south from the Bayeux-Caen area or of swinging Allied forces fanwise with the Bayeux-Caen area as a hub—thus sweeping German resistance forces out of the peninsula entirely.

The military analyst asserted that the appearance of German panzer forces in the Caen fighting could be used to gauge the importance placed on the sector by the German high command.

South of Tiraspol, in Bessarabia Russian scouts "impetuously" stormed and captured enemy trenches and wiped out approximately a full company of German infantry. On another sector of this front, 40 enemy ATPLS "forced" the Dniester river.

The Russians let the enemy approach, then opened up with machine gun and mortar fire.

Throughout yesterday the Allied armadas battered targets from the battle area inland to points 100 and 150 miles distant, wreaking havoc among the Germans.

The United States Eighth Air Force took a tremendous toll of German trains and motor vehicles yesterday, and battered numerous communications facilities.

Headquarters revealed that fighter planes destroyed or damaged 429 railroad cars, 372 military vehicles and 25 locomotives. They hammered 14 bridges and 35 railroad yards. These craft destroyed 21 Nazi planes in the air and another 21 on the ground. A dozen Allied fighters were lost.

In a summary of air action in support of the Allied invasion forces, supreme headquarters of the Allied Expeditionary Force disclosed that some 27,000 sorties were flown from dawn of D-day to mid-day yesterday.

A total bag of 176 Nazi planes in that period was announced while it was revealed the Allies lost 289 planes.

Headquarters estimated that the Germans in western Europe have approximately 1,750 to 2,000 fighters and 500 bombers.

The British Mark IV Mosquito bomber is unarmed and flies with little regard to formation, depending upon its speed for protection.

These asserted that Allied forces under Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's ground command now have widened their bridgehead in the Orne River sector of Normandy to nearly forty miles.

The successful Allied drive apparently was made along French Route Nationale No. 172, which cuts across the Cherbourg peninsula.

withdrew from the coast to the region of Cretchio, five miles inland and the British Eighth Army moved forward to occupy Tollo.

The Fifth Army battlefield at last reports stretched from the Tyrrhenian sea coast some 45 miles northwest of Rome.

Allied warplanes, in their sweeps over the communication lines of the retreating Germans, destroyed outright 195 enemy transports and damaged 170 more of their vehicles. Heavy bombers of the Mediterranean air force, meantime, bombed the Polo drydocks and submarine base.

Night bombers of the Mediterranean force carried out a raid early this morning against the Yugoslavian railroad center of Nis. The main marshalling yards and repair shops were hit, returning airmen said.

American forces which occupied the major coast Italian port of Civitavecchia reported that the harbor had escaped serious damage. The town and railways at the Moen waterfront were for the most part spared the damages of war.

In their northward drive, the Fifth Army had at time moved as fast as 30 miles in a single day.

Fall of Civitavecchia, main Tyrrhenian seaport serving Rome and some 40 miles northwest of the eternal city, placed the Yank spearheads of the Fifth Army within nine miles of the ancient town of Tarquinia.

Seizure of Civita Castellana severed three main highways as well as two electric railroads running north and south out of Rome. These lines serve the road and railway centers of Viterbo and Terni, 18 miles northwest and 24 miles to the northeast.

Coming Fifth War Loan Drive

"Back the Attack—Buy More Than Before" is the slogan of the Fifth War Loan, which will start on June 12 and run to July 8. The goal will be 16 billion dollars of which 6 billion dollars is to come from sales of bonds to individuals.

We, as a Nation, will undertake the greatest war financing drive in the history of the world. Pennsylvanians will be called upon to lend more than one billion dollars to their government to help pay for weapons with which to defeat Germany and Japan.

The vastness of this task ahead of us will require the fullest cooperation of every media so that the Fifth War Loan message—"Back the Attack—Buy More Than Before"—is carried home to every man, woman and child in this commonwealth.

The secretary of the Treasury, in a statement made early in April, said, "In the Fourth War Loan individuals invested $5,300,000,000. In planning to get 6 billion dollars of the Fifth War Loan's 16 billion dollar goal in individual sales, we are asking more than ever before from the American people. Fifth War Loan goals were set high because the nation's treasury must borrow a great deal of money this year to keep the war going. We will need more than twice as much as we can expect to get in taxes.

"Since January 1, 1944, the direct costs of the war have exceeded 23 billion dollars. With the critical phases of the war still ahead of us, certainly no decline in expenditures is now in prospect. For this reason the 16 billion dollars—all of which is to be raised from investors, other than commercial banks—is urgently needed."

The secretary pointed out that the major emphasis throughout the entire period of the drive will be placed on the quota of 6 billion dollars for individuals.

During the period from June 12 to June 26, only sales to individuals will be reported by the Treasury, although subscriptions will be received from all non-banking investors during the entire period of the drive. The campaign to sell to individuals will be supplemented starting June 26 with an intensive campaign to sell all other non-banking investors—the quota for which is 10 billion dollars.

Closing In For The Kill

The Allies are closing in on the Nazis from three sides for the kill, and they are gaining on the objective with ever-increasing swiftness. In France, in Italy, in Russia and from the air the enemy is being blasted and battered and pulverized. Sheer weight of Allied armament is bringing the end of the war in Europe closer.

There are tough days ahead, but they will be tougher for the Nazis than for the Allies. The capture of Rome was the signal for a quickening of the tempo in the European conflict. German hopes of conducting lengthy holding operations that would finally result in a stalemate—the last straw at which Hitler has been grasping for a year—have been blown sky high.

The war of attrition in Europe featured for months mainly by overwhelming air attacks on Germany and Axis held territory has, overnight, been converted into a war of ground movement. The Nazis are reeling and can no longer amass the strength to make more than a pretense of resistance at any point singled out by General Eisenhower to wreak havoc upon military might that a few months ago was a world menace.

The war in Europe will not be ended until Hitler surrenders unconditionally, but the end has been very definitely determined. The German war machine no longer is a potent force on land, in the air or under the sea. The Allied Army of Liberation, the greatest in all history, is sweeping all before it.

Indicative of the vast change that has taken place in Europe in a few months is the lack of emotional reaction in Allied nations to German defeats. A year ago the fall of Paris would have been hailed with wild excitement. Capture of the French capital now will be taken in stride because it is everywhere regarded as a feat all but accomplished. The taking of Rome evoked less notice than did the Allied landings in North Africa a year and a half ago.

The war in Europe has entered its final phase.

Vision Tests For Drivers

The Better Vision Institute is taking a severely critical look at proposed legislation for a system of express highways linking American cities. The highways would have a minimum speed limit of 75 miles an hour and the institute feels that many drivers haven't good enough vision to operate cars at that speed.

It cites the recent recommendations of Prof. A. R. Lauer of Iowa State college that unrestricted driving licenses should be given only to those having 20-30 vision in one eye, or 20-40 in both. For drivers with less than 20-100 vision, he would impose a speed limit of 25 miles an hour.

It seems to us that the institute is thinking along sensible lines. Most states now test drivers for mechanical ability, and test brakes for safety. In many states, too, "drunkometer" test findings are admissible as evidence. But too little care has been given to bad vision, which is certainly a cause of many accidents.

A consideration of this added safety measure should be part of a national program aimed at reducing our appalling traffic toll when normal driving is resumed.

Consumer Buying Gains

Despite shortages in many lines of merchandise, department stores in New York City and Brooklyn had a gain in sales in May of 20 per cent compared to figures for May, 1943, a boom month. Only one month since January, 1942, registered a larger gain—March of this year, when beat-the-tax buying brought heavy buying that resulted in a gain of sales of 23 per cent compared to March, 1943.

One store in May reported a sales gain of more than 47 per cent as the saturnalia of retail buying reached a new peak. The gain in May sales was registered despite the fact that many lines of merchandise affected by the new 20 per cent excise taxes showed sharp losses for the month.

There is no doubt that consumer buying would hit astronomical heights except for the meager supplies of goods available. Thus, of course, buying well for business and employment after the war. If consumer buying power remains large, there will be an unprecedented demand for goods in years to come.

Victory gardeners need some sort of an insecticide that will repel vandals.

There is one good thing to be said for gasoline and tire rationing. There aren't as many road hogs as there used to be.

Washington Calling

Adjourn Politics?

WASHINGTON, June 9.—On Capitol Hill, you couldn't actually hear the roar of the guns from the invasion coast, but sometimes you had the feeling that that far-off sound must explain why all the voices seemed so small.

There were fine sentiments expressed. Speaker after speaker in the House called for an end of partisan politics. They talked of a new unity and a new faith.

The men who regularly cover congress, looking down from the spectacle from the press galleries, may have been a little on the cynical side. Congress is the nature of an occupational disease for them, but I'm inclined to accept the judgment of these knowing veterans.

"They look kind of solemn down there today, don't they?" said one reporter, in the midst of the harmony speeches.

"Yeah, that'll last until tomorrow," said another.

"You mean it'll last until they bring up that Kimmell-Short court-martial business in about half an hour?"

This proved to be approximately right.

Brief Adjournment

The adjournment of politics will be, at best, a brief one. For the next two or three weeks, most people won't be paying very much attention to politics. They'll be listening to the radio and grabbing the latest editions of the papers, with news from across the water getting A-1 priority.

One thing that D-day did was to throw into sudden, sharp relief the particular kind of partisan politics that has been afoot here. As though seen in the harsh light of landing flares, the figures of those who would cripple our home-front war controls were abruptly revealed.

They had a stealthy, skulking look. I refer specifically to the efforts to undermine the price control act. Representative Howard Smith of Virginia is conducting a legalistic raid in the House on the D-Day, Second Avenue of Montgomery Ward & Co. Appeared before the house committee investigating the government's action in that case.

There was another exercise in legalism on Capitol Hill that seemed incongruous on D-Day. Second Avenue of Montgomery Ward & Co. Appeared before the house committee investigating the government's action in that case.

The World and the Mud Puddles

By FONTAINE FOX

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes and a number of Navy bigwigs are alleged to be sponsors for the proposed Saudi Arabian oil pipeline. This pipeline would be built by Petroleum Reserves Corporation. It would be operated by Arabian-American Oil Company, owned by the Standard and Texas Oil companies, and by the Gulf Exploration company, owned by Gulf Oil. These companies would guarantee the United States a one billion barrel oil reserve for Navy and Army use and make what they could out of the oil carried through the pipeline estimated three hundred to four hundred thousand barrels a day. They would pay off the estimated pipeline cost of one hundred thirty million to one hundred sixty-five million dollars in twenty-five years—but Petroleum Reserve Corporation, meaning the United States Government, would keep legal title to the pipeline.

The proposal that the government keep legal title to the pipeline looks like another New Deal device for running private enterprise up the street—or up a blind alley.

The problems of guarding a one thousand two hundred fifty-mile pipeline through a wild, bandit-infested area look pretty big. In plainer English, it would take quite a few U. S. boys with bloodhounds and machine guns to patrol the line. It would take quite a few more to defend it if Russia should decide to grab it in one of those postwar years when Russia is expected to be so powerful.

Then, if the line ends at Haifa, it goes through Palestine, a British mandate. That brings up questions of how the British government will feel about it, and of how the Jews and Arabs in Palestine will feel about it. We'd expect the Jews to want American soldiers in Palestine, and the Arabs not to want them. Our national news would be permanently stuck out into seemingly endless quarrels between Palestine Jews and Arabs.

The national attitude towards oil and oil reserves in this country is very odd. There was a tremendous scandal made out of the Teapot Dome affair, by which capital was going to make a lot of money out of Teapot Dome, at the expense of government. There was a good deal of talk concerning the enormous amount of oil out there in Idaho and the adjacent northwest territory, but did the government do anything about it? Is there any oil coming out of Teapot Dome today? No, and notwithstanding that Mr. Doehny, after the Standard and the Dutch Shell refused to have anything to do with the development of Teapot Dome, promised the amount of block-busting bombing that has fallen on the Nazis and their satellites, smothered the armageddon of the air began.

Most Wait For Answer

After the war, or whenever the rationing ends, is a question puzzling the Office of Price Administration.

Some officials have said the problem appears so remote that to genuine consideration of it, yet, but they admit they have not any idea just what course they will take.

One suggestion is that they see whether the tokens have any salvage value and, if they have, dispose of them in that manner. They think it would be exactly polite to put them away. The question would arise as to why they are being saved.

"What for?" the American people would ask. "What for—the next war?"

When Child Plays Sick

A LARGE NUMBER of children stay out of school for months because they have learned to escape some immediately unpleasant experiences connected with school attendance, and many of these children are bright. The chances are that with so many mothers working during wartime and many other mothers with husbands in the armed forces, the number of such cases has increased enormously.

Of a third grade child who always earned high marks at school but had suddenly encountered some unpleasant experiences there, his mother writes:

"We've never been able to get him back to school unless I go with him and stay there. My husband travels and is away a lot, so naturally Billy and I have been together a great deal. Maybe he has been with me too much for his own good, but I have enjoyed taking him with me. He seems to have perfect health."

Child Staying Home

"We were afraid he would have a nervous breakdown if we forced him to school because the only way we could get him there would be to carry him in, and even then I felt he would come home at the first chance. He is staying at home now, and I am teaching him. He always does his work well and is happy to do it. In fact he is willing to do anything I ask him. He helps me with the housework and every day has special chores he is responsible for. My regular readers can guess how I answered this mother."

A nine-year-old girl who "during her very early childhood was ill a great deal and probably petted and indulged more than the average."

Washington Report

Senate Committee Is Silent On Future

Difficulties Beset Master Peace Plan

German Durability In Air Blitz Puzzles

By HELEN ESSARY

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Published reports that Secretary of State Cordell Hull and the special bipartisan Senate foreign relations subcommittee virtually had reached an accord on the principles to govern the post-war peace organization have not been borne out by subsequent developments.

Members of the eight-man subcommittee, named by Chairman Tom Connally (D of Texas, of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, are maintaining an exceptionally close silence about what is going on.

But such comments as they are letting drop reveal that a difficulty is present, rather than an easy pathway which was intended to lie ahead in the negotiations regarding the master peace plan.

Some senators who are studying peace machinery proposals religiously say that they are doubtful that Hull and the subcommittee will reach an agreement on the peace plan. At that same time, the hope is entertained by others that some kind of general understanding can be achieved.

Must Await Election

If an understanding is worked out, even though it is only a "face saver," it is probable that a carefully-worded statement will be issued.

It is clear that President Roosevelt is anxious to move forward as rapidly as possible with the working out of a post-war peace organization.

But the United States will not decide until the November elections and when will handle its part of the job. Moreover, the attitude of Russia is a source of concern and doubt to many senators.

These senators feel that until the major unknown factors have been better clarified, little more than "made work" can be done on the peace organization.

Supporters of air power are puzzled over Germany's ability to continue to make a formidable war under the terrific bombing and strafing that its industries and communications have suffered during the past few months.

An experts are not ready to admit that air power has failed and that the German war machine is crumbling. They say that the current sound-the-bell air offensive can be evaluated in the proper light.

The true facts in the case are that there never has been such a war in history and no nation has suffered the amount of block-busting bombing that has fallen on the Nazis and their satellites, smothered the armageddon of the air began.

Most Wait For Answer

After the war, or whenever the rationing ends, is a question puzzling the Office of Price Administration.

Allied Troops Make Progress

Official Communique From
Gen. Eisenhower's Headquarters For Day

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS
Advanced Command Post Allied Expeditionary Force, June 9—(INS)—
Following is the text of General Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique No. 7 on the progress of the invasion:

Allied troops have continued to make progress in all sectors despite further reinforcements of German armor.

"Landings have continued on all beaches and bypassed strongpoints of enemy resistance are being steadily reduced.

"During yesterday there was a desultory firing from some coastal batteries which were again silenced by gunfire from Allied warships.

Allied aircraft continued to support naval and land forces yesterday by attacks on a variety of targets. Late in the day weather over northern France caused a reduction in the scale of air operations. Our heavy bombers in strong force attacked rail way targets and airfields beyond the battle area. Yesterday morning they were escorted by medium forces of fighters. These and other fighters strafed ground targets shooting down 31 enemy aircraft and destroying more than a score on the ground. From these operations three bombers and 24 fighters are missing.

"Medium bombers attacked a road bridge over the Seine at Vernon and fighter bombers struck at troop and transport concentrations, gun positions, armored vehicles and railway and road targets behind the battle line.

"Fighters patrolled over shipping and the assault area. Twenty enemy aircraft were destroyed. Eleven of our fighters were lost but two of the pilots are safe.

"Rocket firing fighters attacked German E-boats in the Channel leaving one in a sinking condition.

"Last night heavy bombers in force attacked railway centers at Rennes, Fougères, Alençon, Mayenne and Pontaubault. Five heavy bombers are missing. Light bombers struck at railway targets behind the battle area during the night."

Figures for the five-year period from 1936-41 show an average of 210,970 forest fires a year.

Quick Sentence For Bank Robber In Clarion County

CLARION, Pa., June 9—Less than 33 hours after holding up the Silgo National Bank, Willis G. Wenner 29, of Strattonville, was en route to Western Penitentiary at Pittsburgh to start serving a 7½ to 12 year sentence for armed robbery.

Wenner, a construction worker arrested on a street at Philipsburg pleaded guilty to the charge this morning and was sentenced this afternoon by Judge John M. Myers.

Sheriff W. O. Mong left soon after to deliver Wenner, father of three children, to the prison wardens.

Wenner, who said he acted on an "impulse of the moment" when he held up two bank tellers and took $5,000 in small denomination bills, said that he was not financially pressed and "did not know" just why he committed the robbery. His parents and wife were in the court room when he entered his guilty plea and when he was sentenced.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

but with splendid health the last three years" is reported by her mother as follows: "When something is presented at school which she finds difficult to understand or at which she cannot do well, she will feign illness in an effort to get away from the task at hand.

"This morning she came home from school, saying she was ill. I have learned that she became ill during an arithmetic class when her teacher called upon her to read some numbers which she did not know after failing on two similar tests."

For anybody but the mother of such a child, it is easy to see how she got that way and what we might want to do to change the child. But all such cases are difficult both for the parent and child since they have grown so long and involved so much emotional color. Let young mothers take warning from these cases and nip such problems in the bud. If the school child says he is sick on a school morning and the thermometer shows a fever call the doctor. Even be there no temperature and you have doubts put him to bed for the entire day and night with no means of amusement, not much attention from you and a very light diet. Otherwise, if you still have control of this child see that he goes to school.

In like manner do not allow him to escape home jobs by "playing sick." It is important, of course, that our children never see us "playing sick" to escape something we don't like. Anything we can do, of course, to keep ourselves and our children well, keeps us and them from the temptation to seek escapes and renders us and them more able to face life courageously.

Six Miners Are Believed Lost

CLARKSVILLE, Pa., June 9—(INS)—A raging fire in the Chartiers shaft of the Emerald coal and Coke company was slowly being smothered for lack of oxygen today after workers had sealed the shaft entrances—a literal seal of doom for any of the six miners inside the working who might still have been alive.

The six, who were trapped behind a wall of flame when the fire broke out early yesterday morning, had been presumed dead when the sealing operations began 18 hours later. All of the 151 other men in the mine got out safely. The mine is located near Clarksville in Greene county.

Huge Landing Operations Are Being Speeded

By DON WHITEHEAD
Representing the Evening U. S. Press
(Distributed By U. S. S.)

WITH AMERICAN FORCES IN FRANCE, June 8—(Delayed)—Fighting as American troops did in Tunisia, Sicily and Italy, doughboys have smashed through the outer crust of Hitler's fortress in a gallant display of courage and skill.

The battle of the beachhead has developed now into a race to get enough doughboys, guns and supplies ashore to beat back the enemy attack and it looks as if we are winning.

Never before has an army attempted to land such vast numbers of men and materials in such a short time, but the job is being done after a shaky start.

When we landed behind the assault troops the enemy still was pouring a heavy machine gun, mortar and artillery fire into the boats as they drove ashore and had our troops pinned behind a gravel bank just above the water's edge.

Troops, supplies and vehicles began to pile up on the beach at an alarming rate. The enemy controlled the exits with accurate fire and the time schedule was being disrupted.

But under the urging of a soft-spoken brigadier general the organized enemy positions were silenced and the great surge inland began.

In a matter of a few hours the engineers had roads built from the beach and the heavy stuff was pouring across.

The army's communication system for correspondents accompanying American troops broke down completely and for more than 28 hours we were unable to get news out.

Guard Company Needs Recruits

July 1, Company F, 16th Pennsylvania Infantry and the regimental band, both stationed in the Cunningham Army in Cascade Park, will go to camp at Indiantown Gap. Officers of the company are hoping for a full roster, but if the roster is filled there will have to be some enlistments, 12 or 14 in fact.

Major Frank W. Hill said today that the company could use 12 or 14 recruits. This is an opportunity for boys nearing 18 to get some fundamentals of army life. It is also an opportunity for men over 36 who really want to help in the war effort to do something.

Officers will be at the armory on Monday night to recruit. Only boys under 18 and men over 36 can be taken, unless the recruit has been deferred or is 4-F but physically able to serve in the company.

Demoted Officer

Refuses To Talk

MIAMI, Fla., June 9—(INS)—Lieut.-Col. Henry J. F. Miller, who was demoted to his permanent rank from that of a major general for an indiscreet remark hinting at an indiscreet remark hinting at the time set for the allied invasion of Europe, today declined to comment on the incident.

The 53-year-old officer is a patient in the Baltimore hospital.

"I am an officer in the army of the United States and therefore can make no statement of any kind at this time, or until such time as the war department authorizes me to issue a statement concerning my case," Miller declared when asked for a statement.

The first Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, wife of the 23rd president of the United States, was a musician and a painter. She was the first head of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Re-Insurance Industry Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
Copyright 1944—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.

BABSON PARK, Mass., June 9.—I like most insurance stocks, especially those of the good fire companies. I am often asked, however, why I invest my personal money in the re-insurance industry in addition to my investments in merchandise stocks. There are ten reasons:

1. Re-insurance is an absolutely essential industry. The safety of both all insurance companies and all policyholders depends thereon. The more that risks are divided and spread, the better for all concerned.

2. It is a form of insurance which must be used by all kinds of companies—large and small, foreign and domestic, stock and mutual, "board" and "non-board" "union" and "non-union" "participating" and "non-participating" and so on ad infinitum.

3. Too much so-called "re-insurance" today consists of swapping policies between large insurance companies and their subsidiaries or between other friendly companies. Some day it may be found that this practice is like a man endorsing his own note. Then there will be a stampede to get bona fide professional re-insurance protection.

4. The re-insurance industry started in Europe; but moved to the United States following World War I. It has been again upset by World War II. After peace comes, the professional U. S. re-insurance companies will not only have an opportunity to hold their present business, but should be able to take in much profitable business from direct-writing fire-insurance companies in Europe, South America and the Far East.

5. Today the stocks of professional fire re-insurance companies are depressed due to present extraordinarily high national fire losses. Of the total of 25 such companies, operating in the U. S., only one showed an underwriting profit last year. The entire industry last year, lost $666,000; that is, incurred losses and expenses were $50,820,000 compared with premiums earned of only $46,154,000. As losses have always gone in cycles, the time to buy any kind of insurance stocks is when the losses are greatest and the industry looks darkest.

6. The professional re-insurance companies are not involved with agents or dependents thereon. No one appreciates more than I do what all branches of the insurance industry owe to the agents. Yet, too many direct-writing companies are today so dependent upon their agents that the company officials are not free to do what they think would be best for their company. Re-insurance company officials are wholly free from such entanglements.

7. Our nation is on the verge of great progress in preventing fire marine casualty and life losses. After World War II, better living conditions, new building codes, increased use of non-combustible materials, extended water supplies with more efficient fire and police departments, combined with sprinkler systems or fire alarm boxes in every building, should materially reduce losses of all kinds. As re-insurance suffers most as the loss ratios increase, so these professional re-insurance companies should profit most as these loss ratios are reduced.

8. The professional re-insurance industry today is disorganized and has an inferior complex. It is existing upon "crumbs" thrown out by the big companies when it should be the leader of the entire insurance field. In Europe, these re-insurance companies have led and dictated to direct-writing companies the basic policies of fire protection. Some day our U. S. re-insurance companies will enjoy a much more important place in fire, marine, casualty, life and other branches of the insurance industry. Furthermore, the social and political hurdles facing the direct-writing companies should re-act beneficially to the professional re-insurance companies.

9. It is true that this industry is now under a cloud; but I believe it is fundamentally sound. With the co-operation of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, the National Fire Protection Association, the Association of Casualty and Insurance Executives and the Mutual and other associations, the industry can perform a great service to all insurance companies and to the nation as a whole. It needs only organization and better co-operation among its own group and fair treatment by the direct-writing companies which it is now efficiently serving.

10. Finally, and very important as an inflation hedge, the stocks of most professional re-insurance companies are selling for considerably less than their liquidating value. Without doubt, the first year, for 1944 will be the largest, excepting 1932, in the history of the United States, namely about $400.00. This compares with an average of $217.615.500 for the past 12 years. But patriotic people will soon wake up and realize that insurance does not replace losses; it merely distributes them over a large number of people. When a building burns in America, it hurts America just as much as if it were burned by our enemies. People are now ready to recognize this and be careful, first by preventing fires, and secondly by immediately going to the nearest fire alarm box and calling the fire department. "There never was a fire which could not have been put out with a pail of sand or water when it first started."

"This list includes: the National Association of Insurance Commissioners, National Association of Insurance Agents, National Association of Insurance Brokers, Associated Factory Mutuals, National Association of Fire Chiefs, National Bureau for Industrial Protection, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, National Industrial Information Committee, National Industrial Conference Board, American Institute for Property and Liability Underwriters, Anti-Inflation Campaign and the Committee for Economic Development."

Destroyer Escorts Ready For Launching

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—(INS.)—The navy announced today that two destroyer escort vessels will be launched in a double ceremony at the Philadelphia navy yard June 15 in honor of two officers who died in actions for which they received the navy cross.

Mrs. Andrew J. Kirwin, Newport R. I., mother of Lt. John J. Kirwin, will sponsor the USS Kirwin and Mrs. Mary Ruchamkin, Brooklyn, N. Y., mother of Lt. Seymour D. Ruchamkin, will christen the USS Ruchamkin.

Kirwin gave his life to save men under his command while serving aboard the USS Savannah off Salerno, while Ruchamkin went down with the destroyer Cushing during the third battle of Savo.

Syria is about the size of the state of Michigan. The population is mostly Moslem.

Relieve that Tormenting PIN-WORM ITCH Too Embarrassing to Talk About!

It is no longer necessary to put up with the trouble caused by Pin-Worms. Don't let your child or yourself suffer that tormenting, embarrassing rectal itching, or take chances with the internal distress. Medical science has now discovered a new and highly effective way to deal with this stubborn and troublesome infection. This important scientific discovery is a remarkable drug known as gentian violet. It is the vital element in P-W, the new Pin-Worm treatment developed by the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, America's leading specialists in worm medicines. P-W tablets are small and easy to take, and they act in a special way to destroy the ugly creatures. Watch for the warning signs: Itching nose and anal, uneasy stomach, bed-wetting, uneven appetite. Remember that now there is a treatment that works on Pin-Worms as no old-fashioned "worm syrup" or "worm candy" could. So if you even suspect Pin-Worms, get a box of P-W right away, and follow the directions carefully. P-W means Pin-Worm relief!

Bridgehead Is Preparing For Coming Battle

By LEE CARSON
(International News Service)
A FIGHTER BOMBER WING COMMAND STATION, in North-east England, June 9.—The Allied bridgehead in northern France was made ready to day for a great battle of the line as German forces cautiously began moving up paratrooper and infantry divisions from the south.

Fighter pilots attached to this station reported the enemy movements, but revealed at the same time that emergency Allied landing strips installed at the beachheads now are in active use, while streams of supplies and men continue to pour thickly across the channel from southern England.

Fighter-bomber pilots who operated from a 500-foot altitude reported a Nazi parachute division moving northward from the area of Rennes, while SS panzer troops are rolling along roads leading to American positions in the north.

Two additional Nazi infantry divisions were reported to have appeared some miles to the east of the British beachhead and although the battle for Caen still is officially undecided, the British shipped prisoners back across the channel during the day.

This indicated strongly that the much-vanished 21st Panzer Division not only is unable to jar the British loose from Caen but are taking a beaten in at least several fighting zones.

Allied heavy bomber support of the battle-front was thinned out by exceedingly bad weather throughout the day. Fighter-bombers were forced to run through a tornado of flak enroute to their targets, but their pilots reported the beachheads "healthy and sound."

The air-borne division operating on the Cherbourg peninsula continued to surprise the high command by beating off German attacks and keeping the broad lanes to the landing beaches open.

Caen Center Of Heavy Fighting

Americans Battle Germans For Main Road On Cherbourg Peninsula

ALLIED MERCHANT SHIPS RUSH SUPPLIES

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 9.—American troops in northern France battled the Germans in a bitter struggle today for control of the lateral road running southward through the Cherbourg peninsula from the big French port.

The Nazis launched fierce counter-attacks against the Allies holding the right wing of the Allied beachhead but the enemy thrusts failed to force the Americans to yield a single inch.

Heavy Fighting

The heaviest kind of fighting raged along the whole invasion front against all of the enemy's local reserves which were thrown into battle.

The Germans were estimated to have amassed at least 10 divisions to combat the landing forces but their counter-attacks succeeded nowhere.

Northeast of the road hub city of Caen British lines held firmly against the Germans but the Allies were finding Caen a tough nut to crack. Flat, open country to the west gave the Nazis an exceptional advantage.

The Caen area was subjected to sustained bombing and shelling by Allied forces seeking to reduce the German resistance.

Counter-Attacks Scattered

German counter-attacks, although fierce and numerous, have been generally scattered and haphazard. A big enemy push was expected, however, and a grim race was under way by the Allies to pour sufficient additional men, supplies and weapons into the beachhead to gain superiority in all respects when the critical moment comes.

The arrival off the beaches of the first big American and British merchant ships yesterday greatly increased the outlook for unloading and moving supplies inland at a faster pace.

Naval guns supported the operations and aided ground troops by shelling Nazi strongpoints. Naval guns kept the major enemy batteries in the region of Le Havre under fire. These enemy batteries are within range of the beachhead area.

"You might say we are hanging by our teeth to what we are now holding, until we can build up a solid rear and overcome the handicaps caused by the past days of bad weather," said a headquarters spokesman.

"But the fighting is tough," he continued, adding, "We are not yet out of the woods."

Lauds Shuttle Raid

AS A LARGE FORCE of American bombers landed at big air bases in the Soviet Union following the establishment of a new shuttle bombing program, they were welcomed by a group that included Maj. Gen. John R. Deane, head of the U. S. Military Mission to Russia. He described the meeting as "a brief but happy celebration before servicing the aircraft with fuel and ammunition for another call on the Axis en route to their home bases located in England, Italy and Africa." Rev. F. P. Corson Named Bishop

President Of Dickinson College Is Elected By Methodists At Conference

OCEAN CITY, N. J., June 9.—(INS)—The election of the Rev. Fred Pierce Corson, president of Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., as a bishop by the northeastern jurisdictional conference of the Methodist church in Ocean City left only two more bishoprics to be filled today. The two posts for which bishops will be elected before adjournment of the quadrennial session on Sunday are the dioceses of New York and Washington, D. C. A missionary bishop for Africa also will be elected.

Bishop-elect Corson, president of Dickinson for the past decade, was named by the conference delegates on the second ballot. He received 213 votes east by delegates from 12 states and the district of Columbia. He has yet to be assigned by the conference, but it was expected he will succeed Bishop Ernest E. Richardson of Philadelphia, who retires this year.

Caen Center Of Heavy Fighting

ALLIED MERCHANT SHIPS RUSH SUPPLIES

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 9.—American troops in northern France battled the Germans in a bitter struggle today for control of the lateral road running southward through the Cherbourg peninsula from the big French port.

The Nazis launched fierce counter-attacks against the Allies holding the right wing of the Allied beachhead but the enemy thrusts failed to force the Americans to yield a single inch.

Heavy Fighting

The heaviest kind of fighting raged along the whole invasion front against all of the enemy's local reserves which were thrown into battle.

The Germans were estimated to have amassed at least 10 divisions to combat the landing forces but their counter-attacks succeeded nowhere.

Northeast of the road hub city of Caen British lines held firmly against the Germans but the Allies were finding Caen a tough nut to crack. Flat, open country to the west gave the Nazis an exceptional advantage.

The Caen area was subjected to sustained bombing and shelling by Allied forces seeking to reduce the German resistance.

Counter-Attacks Scattered

German counter-attacks, although fierce and numerous, have been generally scattered and haphazard. A big enemy push was expected, however, and a grim race was under way by the Allies to pour sufficient additional men, supplies and weapons into the beachhead to gain superiority in all respects when the critical moment comes.

The arrival off the beaches of the first big American and British merchant ships yesterday greatly increased the outlook for unloading and moving supplies inland at a faster pace.

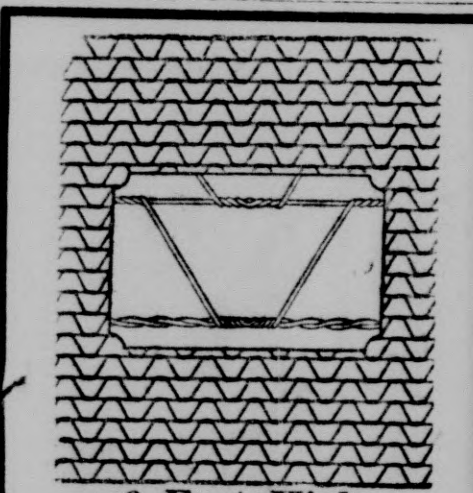

Naval guns supported the operations and aided ground troops by shelling Nazi strongpoints. Naval guns kept the major enemy batteries in the region of Le Havre under fire. These enemy batteries are within range of the beachhead area.

"You might say we are hanging by our teeth to what we are now holding, until we can build up a solid rear and overcome the handicaps caused by the past days of bad weather," said a headquarters spokesman.

"But the fighting is tough," he continued, adding, "We are not yet out of the woods."

Prince Umberto Arrives In Rome

Drives Through Streets To Acclaim Of Populace On Thursday—Greets Relatives

By MICHAEL CHINIGO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ROME, June 9—Prince Umberto, who earlier this week succeeded to the seat of government in Italy, arrived in Rome Thursday. He drove through streets lined with cheering subjects to the royal palace where, with tears in his eyes, he greeted relatives from whom he had long been separated.

Umberto recognized me as I stood at the entrance to the royal palace and after cordially shaking hands invited me inside where I arranged for International News photo cameraman Sammy Goldstein to take closeups of the reunion.

His face showed his emotion and he shook hands with the octogenarian Admiral Thaon Di Revel and his cousin, the Duke of Ancona, who had been in hiding to prevent capture by the Nazis.

It was really touching to see the royal palace's personnel tearfully bow to Umberto, who said to me, "I've lived many months in agony wondering whether Rome would be spared and wondering how many trusted ones would be alive."

"Italy," he added, "must be forever grateful to the Allies for the speed of their last offensive."

The Prince received a rousing welcome from the populace of the city. The people ran after his car, kissed his hand and cried, "Hail Hail, Hail."

The demonstration, which took place all the way from the Cisterna airport to the Eternal City, mounted in volume as he neared the royal palace. The Fifth Army provided a motorcade for the Prince, but when the crowd became thick he asked the soldiers to move from the road to permit his subjects to swarm around him.

Marshal Pietro Badoglio meanwhile continued his talks with Italian leaders but the duke's parleys relatives to the formation of a new government have not yet got under way.

Girl Scout Heads Name Camp Staff

Units May Be Changed To Suit Registration Demands If Girls Sign Up Soon Enough

Unit leaders for the Girl Scout camp, which will open July 10 at Cascade park, have almost all been chosen, Scout Executive Mrs. Marjorie Miller has announced.

The staff is not yet complete, however, and there is a large registration, leaders may be shifted around and a new unit may be added. Last year many girls waited until the last few days to register, and some had to be turned down because the units were full. Mrs. Miller said if these who plan to go would get their registration in early, hours and places could be changed to accommodate more girls, because the park facilities are entirely adequate.

Leaders who have been appointed so far are: Mrs. C. M. Boohar, Brownie unit; Mrs. Carolyn Mitto, younger intermediate group; Miss Mildred Lusk, older intermediate group; and Sally McKee, older girls. Helpers and assistants are: Jeanette Miles, Marjorie Lowstetter, Lois Ralph, Angeline Castrucci, Dolores Huffner, Arlene Ande, Jennie Wise, Helen McCommon, Eileen Wadlinger, and Joyce Alexander.

Mrs. J. A. Hewitt has accepted the position of business manager. Miss Elsie Ridley will be the music counselor, and Miss Helen Williams will have charge of handicraft.

Farley Resigns State Chairman Democratic Post

NEW YORK, June 9—(INS)—James A. Farley, former postmaster general and an outstanding opponent of the third term for President Roosevelt, quit his last major political job Thursday when he resigned as chairman of the New York State Democratic committee.

Farley, who as chairman of the Democratic National Committee engineered the election of President Roosevelt to his first term in 1932, previously had resigned that post as well as his membership on the committee itself.

His resignation as national chairman came shortly before the Democratic national convention in 1940 when Farley broke openly with Mr. Roosevelt over the third term issue. He retained his state chairmanship however.

Plan To Maintain Military Fitness When War Ends

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 9—(INS)—A three-fold program requiring the collaboration of the home, school and community has been proposed by Dr. Arthur F. Davis, of the Pennsylvania State College, for maintaining military fitness after war has ceased.

Davis, associate professor of health and physical education, declared that parents should insure proper rest and food for their children, schools should provide periodic health examinations and communities should offer constructive recreational programs to keep the nation in good health.

"America is prone to take its health for granted," he asserted. "Too many young men just sit and wait for the draft. These youngsters are desperately in need of facilities for improving their mental and physical health."

Davis cited the fact that 25 percent of the men given army physical examinations were found to have defects. He stressed the need of pre-draft age examinations with a view toward correctional measures.

Speech Clinicians Will Aid Soldiers

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., June 9—(INS)—Speech clinicians will play an important part in the rehabilitation of war victims, according to Dr. Herbert Koeppe-Baker, of the Pennsylvania State College.

Dr. Koeppe-Baker, a coordinator of rehabilitation for the American speech correction association, remarked that re-education in this war included social and vocational phases as well as physical recovery. He emphasized that science has advanced so much since the last war that "chances of recovery are now much improved in speech and hearing cases."

VICTORY GARDEN NOTES

By LEWIS C. DAYTON, County Agent

WATCH SQUASH VINES FOR BORER ACTIVITY

Home gardeners are often bothered by stems of squash wilting and finding a large, white larva with a brown head inside the stem. This is the squash vine borer. It is the young of a clear-winged moth. The moth deposits its small oval brownish eggs singly on the stem, and as the larvae hatch, they bore into the stem, causing leaves to wilt.

The most suitable control is obtained by slitting the stems where borers are working, with a razor blade, and killing the borers. The stem is then covered with earth to a spot beyond the place the slit is made. This will keep the stem from drying out and induce new root growth.

Sprays of lead of arsenate (2 level tablespoons to a gallon of water) applied at the base of the vine and out from the roots for a distance of 4 feet has given some control. Spraying should start as soon as runners begin to grow, and sprays should be repeated at weekly intervals, 3 or 4 times.

Use of a strong nicotine soap spray will be effective against the squash vine borer, as well as the squash bugs. This is prepared by mixing 2 tablespoons nicotine sulphate and 2 tablespoons soap flakes or chips in a gallon of water, adding the nicotine last.

To reduce injury from year to year, all infested vines should be burned as soon as the crop is harvested.

The word "ranger" is derived from the old French word, "ranger," meaning row or rank. It was the official title of the keepers of the royal parks. The Rolls of Parliament for 1453 listed "Forresters and Rangers of Oure Forrestes."

Price Control Clash Is Seen

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, June 9.—Administration leaders believed today that Congress is moving rapidly toward a bitter clash with the White House over revision of the price control act.

The possibility of a presidential veto was plainly recognized. The leaders agreed that if a plan for a recess is adopted it must be based on a congressional session for 10 days after the bill reaches the White House, so a veto could be acted upon.

The senate, which already has encountered criticism from Price Administrator Chester Bowles for liberalizing amendments, may adopt the Bankhead cotton price amendment to which he is opposed.

The Bankhead amendment requires OPA to fix prices on cotton textiles so parity price for cotton would be reflected to the producer. This would mean an increase in the price of cotton.

Price Administrator Bowles charged however that the amendment would cost consumers 20 million dollars a year more for cotton clothing.

"A frank and open attack on price control would shock the country," said Bowles. "This nation would never, as a matter of conscious policy, abandon stabilization for the hazards of inflation. No one has proposed or would dare to propose wrecking the stabilization program. But today price control is being killed with kind words."

Sen. Eastland (D. Miss.), assailed the OPA argument. He charged that the OPA cotton textile price program is being handled by inexperienced college professors.

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, June 9.—Gov. Edward Martin's proclamation urging Pennsylvanians to observe D-Day with prayers was ready for more than a week before Allied headquarters announced the European invasion. The proclamation was issued to press associations shortly after five a. m. on invasion day by Secretary of the Commonwealth Charles M. Morrison, former editor of the old Philadelphia Public Ledger. The governor, a retired major general and a veteran of World War I, has taken a keen interest in the campaigns of World War II and has the ability to forecast some military moves.

Scores of state employees are grumbling because the Commonwealth boasts a surplus of state funds totaling more than $105,000,000 while officials refuse to grant blanket "cost of living" wage increases. The governor has emphasized, however, that salary adjustments will be approved if employees merit increases. Hundreds of salary boosts have been authorized, especially in the lower income brackets. Personnel officials have found that while Commonwealth jobs go begging during boom periods, there is always a long waiting list of applicants when depression strike and employment shrinks elsewhere.

Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst has recommended that farm youths of draft age be given distinctive lapel badge as a sign of the vital food production jobs they were doing. After more than two years at war, Horst said, many American farm boys hesitate to mingle socially as they may be subjected to uncalled for criticism because they are not in military uniform. He emphasized, however, that there were many young men claiming agricultural exemption.

"hiding out" on farms, and expressed hopes that selective service officials would "weed them out." In addition, Horst suggested that special panels be established locally to inscribe the names of farm youths working on farms under draft deferments.

The Public Utility Commission has reported 13 per cent more people were killed in train accidents last year than during 1942. Street railway accidents in 1943 decreased six per cent under 1942. The war strain on transportation equipment has started to be felt, the P. U. C. stated. The increase was expected to continue as private transportation became useless because of the lack of skilled mechanics and replacement parts.

Specifically, the commission's report disclosed there were 3,392 train accidents last year, in which 407 persons were killed, while during the previous year 358 persons lost their lives in 2,916 accidents. In addition, there were 3,678 persons injured last year compared to 1942.

John E. Taylor Is Wounded In Italy

Word Received In Letter From Local Soldier Received Thursday By Parents

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Taylor of Oakwood avenue, R. D. 2, received word in a letter from their son, Pvt. John E. Taylor, aged 21 years, who has been serving with an infantry unit in the Anzio beachhead area, stating that he had been wounded by shrapnel May 29 and is now in a general hospital recovering from his wounds.

The letter, written June 1, did not give many details, merely stating that he had suffered fragmentation wounds, and that his wrist was in bad shape. He stated that Roy Rumbaugh, former New Castle boy, who was in his unit, escaped injury and is still going forward in the battle against the Nazis, but that his sergeant was in the bed next to him with similar wounds. Pvt. Taylor had been previously hospitalized for malaria fever. He has been overseas since May 28, 1943, having been inducted from Penn State college, where he was attending school. He had been in the Anzio beachhead area, living in foxholes for two months prior to the opening of the offensive against the Nazis, and has been in action for six months.

Yank Captain Makes Escape

By LOU AZRAEL
(Baltimore News-Post
Correspondent
(Distributed By I.N.S.))

SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE, June 8.—(Delayed)—Capt. John H. Lee, junior son of Lieut. Gen. Lee, Deputy commander to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, was captured by Germans on an invasion beach and escaped by knocking his guard on the head with a shovel, it was learned today.

His capture occurred on D-day. Lee, captain of one of the first engineer companies to land, was surprised by the Germans as he was heading away from the beach and sent back under guard.

After a short time the guard nearest him began piling up earth to make an enclosure. Capt. Lee grabbed his shovel and knocked him unconscious. He then picked up the German's rifle and ran to a roadside embankment.

He remained in that region, lying in a fox-hole, until the coast was clear. Then he rejoined his unit.

Miners In Nearby Mines Fear Fire

Thousand In Two Adjoining Shafts
In Greene County Stay
Out Of Mines

CLARKSVILLE, Pa., June 9.—(INS)—One thousand miners in two adjoining shafts today refused to go to work for fear that a fire raging inside the Chartiers mine of the Emerald Coal & Coke company near Clarksville in which six have perished may spread to their workings.

The shutdowns occurred in the Clyde No. 1 and the Clyde No. 3 mines of the Hillman Coal & Coke company which are leased to the Republic Steel Corporation.

The Chartiers mine, in which six of 157 men at work were trapped behind a wall of flame when the fire broke out yesterday morning, has been sealed in order to smother the flames. Mine officials estimate it will take six months before the fire dies and the bodies of the missing men—who were presumed dead before the sealing operations began—can be recovered until then.

The Clyde No. 3 mine is so close to the sealed Chartiers mine that most of the 141 miners who escaped the fire in the latter shaft did so by walking underground to an interlocking Clyde mine tunnel.

Men in both of the Clyde mines pointed out that fumes from the burning shaft might seep into their mines and cause explosions.

All 640 of the men employed in the Chartiers mine have been offered jobs elsewhere for the six months it will take before their workings can be placed in shape. Mine officials, meanwhile, hoped to persuade the 1,000 Republic Steel miners to return to their jobs.

Industry's Working Capital Has Soared To Enormous Figure

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—(INS)

—The Securities and Exchange commission reported today that American industry's working capital had soared to an unprecedented level by the end of 1943, presaging possible post-war reconversion and expansion without the need of outside financial assistance.

In its analysis of current assets and liabilities of all American corporations other than banks and insurance companies, from 1939 to 1943 the commission said that net working capital "in extremely liquid form" rose from $24 billion 600 million in 1939 to $41 billion 600 million in 1943.

More than half of the 70 per cent rise occurred after this country entered the war, the report said. The working capital increases were attributed "for the most part to retained profits after taxes and dividend disbursements."

Manufacturing groups, railroads and trade showed the largest increase in working capital, the analysis showed.

S. S. Convention Notable Success

Lawrence County Sunday School Leaders Hear
Inspiring Programs

NEARLY 600 ATTEND
CLOSING SESSION

Attended by 500 to 600 persons, the largest Lawrence County Sabbath School convention in years concluded Thursday evening with the inspirational address of Rev. E. W. Bloomquist of the First Baptist Temple in Youngstown, at the Epworth Methodist church at Butler avenue and East Washington street.

Re-elected president Robert M. Strickler Jr. presided during the evening session, part of which was devoted to the installation of officers and the presentation of the pre-Easter campaign awards and convention attendance awards.

Afternoon Session
H. L. Marvin, president of the New Castle district, conducted the afternoon session when the committee on resolutions made its report. The session was opened at 1 o'clock by a devotional service led by Rev. C. R. Thayer of the Third U. P. church.

The report of the resolutions committee was accepted, and an addition was made later, during the evening session. Following a talk concerning the children's division by Mrs. E. Roy Corman, children's division specialist from Pittsburgh, Mr. Strickler conducted the memorial service honoring past Sunday school members whose work had been outstanding. Those named specifically were: Mrs. S. E. McCleary, First Presbyterian church member who died in January, 1944; Mrs. Margaret C. Shields, First Methodist church member who died in January, 1944; Mrs. T. C. Armstrong, Croton Methodist church member who died in April, 1944; W. A. Brown, Wampum Presbyterian church member who died in May, 1944; and Mrs. A. W. Bauman, Central Christian church member who died in May, 1944. The service was also in honor of any others who had contributed to the work of the county Sunday schools.

Outstanding Addresses

Outstanding addresses were given by both Ira C. Sassaman, adult superintendent of the Pennsylvania Sabbath School Association, and by Dr. Bloomquist. Leaders for the afternoon conference and instruction periods were: administrative, Rev. Sidney K. Bliss of the Pennsylvania department of Christian education, with R. L. Meermans, county administrative superintendent; presiding, adult, Ira C. Sassaman, with Rev. J. G. Bingham, home department superintendent; presiding, children, Mrs. E. Roy Corman, with Mrs. B. P. Johnson, county children's superintendent; presiding, young people, motion pictures shown by J. Harold Vance, young people's superintendent; missions, Mrs. H. F. Magill, county secretary, with Mrs. A. C. Gardner, mission superintendent; presiding, and temperance, Rev. W. A. Thornton of the Epworth church, with J. A. Lusk presiding.

The fellowship banquet was served at 6 o'clock by the women of the host church.

Evening Program
Opening with a devotional service conducted by Rev. O. W. Hurst, minister of the First Baptist church, the evening session continued with the installation of officers chosen at the morning meeting.

Pre-Easter campaign awards were presented by Mrs. J. J. McIlwaine of the First Presbyterian Sunday school which had the best record. Winners in the four New Castle Sunday school groups were: first group, First Presbyterian; second group, Central Presbyterian; third group, Mahoning Methodist; and fourth group, St. John's Lutheran. The Second U. P. church had the best record for church attendance. Of the New Wilmington group, the Newshamock U. P. won the award; of the Wampum group, the Newport Methodist won; the Edinburg Methodist won for the Mt. Jackson group, and the Plaingrove Presbyterian for the Pulaski group. Convention attendance awards were won by St. Paul's Lutheran, and by the Wurttemberg Methodist church.

Additional Resolution

Following Dr. Bloomquist's evening address on "Timid Translators and the Heart of Man," the resolutions committee submitted the new resolution which was accepted by the convention. It reads: "We shall continue in fervent prayer for our gallant boys and girls who are risking their lives and their all that we may continue in the ways which the Almighty God has provided for us, and that they may soon be victorious and return home again safe. We shall likewise pray for our allies and that the issue of the present conflict may be a merciful and lasting peace for the blessing of all nations in the name of Christ Our Lord."

Special music before the evening program was provided by the young people from the Rhodes mission. During the program, J. Marshall Jones, choir director of the First Baptist church, and Mrs. Stanley Reese sang a duet, accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Lukert at the piano. Mr. Jones also sang a solo.

Girl Scouts were present all through the convention, to help distribute programs, and to give information. According to Dr. Bloomquist, the convention was one of the two largest he had ever attended.

Masonic Body Aids With Deshon Annex Recreation

Over $1,000 To Be Spent For Equipment By Military And Naval Service Association

Through the Masonic Military and Naval Service Association, $1,500 has been earmarked for use of the Deshon Hospital Annex here for recreational work, it was announced today by A. A. Izenour, of Pittsburgh, chairman of the committee who was here Thursday conferring with a committee appointed from the four local Masonic lodges by District Deputy Grand Master John H. Templeton, of the 26th Masonic district.

The local committee, representing the four local lodges, which is composed of Orville Potter, Russell C. Melvin, Charles E. Allen and Clair R. Buchanan, together with Mr. Izenour, visited the annex Thursday afternoon, and conferred with the officers in charge of the annex here to determine the needs.

Equipment needed immediately has already been purchased through local stores and is ready for use as soon as additional men arrive here for training. There are now around 30 men in training here.

As additional needs develop at the annex, the local committee hopes to be able to furnish them.

In addition to the work being done here through the association, Mr. Izenour revealed that the association is spending $6,000 at Deshon general hospital at Butler, where 16 acres of land adjoining the hospital has been purchased for an athletic field.

Funds to the Masonic Military and Naval Service Association are contributed by members of the various lodges, throughout the country.

Illinois Delegates Remain Unpledged

Just Who Will Get 59 Illinois Republican Votes Is Very Much Up In Air

CHICAGO, June 9—(INS)—The candidate for whom Illinois' 59 delegates will cast their votes at the Republican National convention was left undetermined today following a caucus of the delegation. Delegates to keep the delegation unpledged for the present was made it was said, to permit freedom of action by the Illinois leaders when the delegates from other states began arriving for the convention which opens in Chicago June 26.

A majority of the Illinois delegation was reported to favor Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York with the remainder friendly to the candidacy of Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio.

Defense Council To Give Warnings

HARRISBURG, June 9—The State Defense Council will disseminate all future air raid warnings in Pennsylvania from the state control center here, effective at 12:01 a. m. Saturday, because of the withdrawal of army equipment and personnel for use overseas.

The council, in a statement tonight, said:

"Because of the short notice given to the states to prepare their own warning systems, it has been necessary to establish a temporary plan for Pennsylvania."

"A permanent plan has been prepared and will be placed into operation in the very near future and will possibly include the State Police teletype system in order to expedite the transmission of warnings."

German Plans Not Carried Out

Washington Learns Nazis
Expected To End War
Before U. S. Entry

QUICK CONQUEST HAD BEEN EXPECTED

By LEON PEARSON
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Documentary evidence that the Nazis intended to complete their conquest before the United States could be drawn into the war to effect an invasion of their European fortress, was made available by the Justice Department today.

The evidence was in the form of a statement by the Swedish industrialist, Axel Wenner-Gren, who revealed intimate details of his conferences with German Field Marshal Goering in an effort to avert war.

Wenner-Gren is petitioning the United States government for removal from the "blacklist."

Expected Early End

In a formal statement, he declared:

"When I had pointed out to Goering that Germany had no chance of winning a war in which the United States was involved, his answer had been that the war in Europe would be terminated before the Americans could decide to enter it—and that there would be no battlegrounds (gefechtsboden) for fighting, by the time they did."

In other words, the Nazi European fortress could not be invaded.

The full story of Wenner-Gren's errand is now revealed for the first time. It began with a meeting in Goering's home at Karinhall near Berlin, in 1939 where Goering told the Swedish magnate:

"If I could sit down and talk matters over alone with Chamberlain, I feel sure a basis could be found for an understanding."

Wenner-Gren promptly offered his services as a mediator, which Goering accepted. Wenner-Gren went to Sweden, where the Crown Prince gave him a personal letter to Chamberlain.

Chamberlain Skeptical

In the conversations in London, Chamberlain was skeptical, but he asked Wenner-Gren to convey to Goering that he was "as interested in a peaceful settlement as ever," and that the points Wenner-Gren had outlined might serve as a basis for diplomatic discussions.

This encouraged the Swedish magnate to draw up a peace proclamation plan, intended to intrigue Hitler into becoming the "peace champion" of the world.

In submitting this to Goering, Wenner-Gren warned that Germany would be "conquered and annihilated." But the plan never got as far as the Fuehrer, and the whole effort collapsed.

But Wenner-Gren, according to his own statement, kept on trying. Coming to the United States, he reported his Goering-Chamberlain conversations to Secretary of State Hull.

In February, 1940, when Under-Secretary of State Welles was sent by President Roosevelt on a peace mission to Europe, Wenner-Gren left New York on the same ship, the Italian liner Rex, on board, though he talked daily with Myron Taylor, the president's personal representative to the Vatican. Welles did not welcome his presence.

"I received the impression," says Wenner-Gren, "that Mr. Welles resented my journey to Europe on the Rex," and he kept his distance.

Before leaving New York, he wired his brother Hugo to have "Biggie" meet him in Rome. "This was a reference to the stout Goering, and sent a message to the Nazi leader, asking him to go to Rome."

When Wenner-Gren discovered this, he was dismayed.

In petitioning for removal from the list of blocked nationals, Wenner-Gren declares he "has served legally and faithfully" the interests of the United States.

Jimmy Stewart Is Now Lieut. Colonel

LONDON, June 9.—(INS)—Film Star Jimmy Stewart, officer with the American Air Forces in the European theater, was promoted today from Major to Lieutenant Colonel.

The promotion in rank was announced by Brig. Gen. James P. Hodges, commanding general of the heavy bombardment division.

Incidentally, Dr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Perry, Sr., of North street were glad to learn of the promotion of the popular film star, and also his sister, formerly Miss Mary Stewart of Indiana, Pa., now the wife of Robert M. Perry, chaplain of the U. S. S. Ranger. Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Perry are visiting here until Sunday with the former's parents.

More Navy Recruits Are Enlisted Here

Seven additional recruits for service in the U. S. Navy have been added through the New Castle Recruiting Station, it is announced by H. L. Godfrey, Spic (R), local Navy Recruiter.

These men are as follows: Mike Jacob, New Castle; Albert Tony, New Castle; Norman Spamer Craven, Ellwood City; Richard Edward Hammers, Edinburg; Adam Wilhelm Lesnak, New Castle; Samuel Chester Fisher, Jr., Mercer; Alton Earl Nofsker, Edinburg.

Turnips are useful as fill-in crops, since they grow quickly. Like all quick-growing vegetables, they need to be used promptly upon maturity or they become tough and stringy.

Garden Notes

Thin out vegetable seedlings when the ground is moist, otherwise the remaining plants may have their roots disturbed. It is best, too, to thin on a cloudy day.

Tall growing varieties of corn frequently send out secondary roots above ground level. It will be beneficial to these "brace roots" if when hoeing, the soil is hilled up around them.

Hand weeding becomes necessary with slow growing crops. Hoe or cultivator can be used down the row but between the plants and close up to them weeds must be pulled by hand, if they are not to choke out the slower growing plants.

Early cabbage does not keep as well as late cabbage, therefore, start using it just as soon as the heads become firm. To prevent the heads from bursting cut some of the roots to check growth.

If you have a flock of chickens in addition to a Victory garden, grow some of the new chicken lettuce. When cut, this lettuce immediately starts to grow again. The leaves can be pulled from each stem like kale.

Dodgers Climb To Fifth Place

Defeat Blue Jays Twice, Giants Humble Boston, Reds Defeat St. Louis

NEW YORK, June 9.—(INS)—The rejuvenated Brooklyn Dodgers, perky and in fighting trim, at least temporarily, found themselves in fifth place in the National League standings today on the basis of twin triumphs over the Phils, 6 to 3 and 8 to 1.

The New York Giants got so many favorable breaks in their game with the Boston Braves yesterday that it was inevitable that Mel Ott's men should win and they did, 6 to 4.

Walters Beats Cards
Bucky Walters nearly shut out the St. Louis Cardinals for the third time yesterday, but the Cards managed to squeeze over a lone run in the ninth in their game with Cincinnati which the Reds won, 2 to 1. It was his ninth victory against three losses.

The Pittsburgh Pirates' winning streak was ended at four games by the Chicago Cubs who tapped four Corsair hurlers for 13 hits and won 10 to 6.

The New York Yankees lost an uphill struggle to the Boston Red Sox, 8 to 7. It was a home run in the ninth by Catcher Partee that subdued the champions.

Indians Scalp Browns
It required 11 innings for the Washington Senators to vanquish the Philadelphia Athletics, 7 to 5. The A's, trailing by three runs for five innings, tied the score with a spirited rally in the closing frame, but an error, infield tap and George Myatt's triple in the 11th showed over two winning rallies for the Senators.

In a night game, the Cleveland Indians set back the league-leading St. Louis Browns, 4 to 3. The Detroit-Chicago game was rained out.

Angott-Williams Rematch Likely

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—(INS)—The possibility of a return bout between "Sammy" Angott, former N. B. A. lightweight champion, and Ike Williams, Trenton, N. J., Negro slugger, was foreseen today as a result of Williams' close decision over the ex-titleholder Wednesday night. Meantime, Williams is contacting N. B. A. headquarters in pursuit of a title fight with Juan Zurita, who recently defeated Angott. Williams beat Angott by the slimmest of margins and on a split decision that left the official verdict up to Referee Irving Kutcher. One judge voted a draw and the other voted for Angott. Under Pennsylvania rules this left the decision up to the referee.

WEST PITTSBURG BEATS SHENANGO

Shenango, City Circuit Leaders, Held Scoreless In Last Two Innings

Toppling City Baseball league leaders apparently is a style catered to by West Pittsburg because they defeated the Shenango Pottery 8 to 6 yesterday at Lee avenue.

Hartman relieved Ferrucci for Blackie Fandoots' team. However, three runs in third, one in the fifth, two more in the sixth and their eighth in the seventh was sufficient for West Pittsburg to win. Shenango had six runs at the end of the fifth but was held scoreless for the last two frames.

Cardella, Eversole, Gozetti, Soho, Thomas and DelPrince were among the two-base hitters. Gozetti and DelPrince getting two. In addition Cardella poled a triple which made him the hitting star of the game. The victory found West Pittsburg yet in fourth place, topped by the Zenon, Moose and Shenango.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Ben Brown, former local businessman, now retired and living in California, has returned to this city to visit friends. After several weeks here he will return to the sunny slope of the Pacific, he said today. While in Los Angeles he met Jimmie Dunn, Emmett Rocco and others well known in this district. He reported that Dunn has temporarily laid off the boxing game and expects to lie eastward in the not too far distant future. He also reported that Emmett Rocco is a defense plant worker. He also said that he had met both Babe and Al McCoy, the latter having been the man to dethrone George Chip as middleweight champion. Brown said also that George Parnassus and Babe promote at the Olympic in Los Angeles and that the American Legion runs the bowl at Hollywood. Both places are crammed at every fight Brown stated.

ACES TAKE VICTORY
The Aces baseball team whipped the Penn Eagles 11 to 10 yesterday at Gaston Park, with Eckles the winning hurler. Demos led the hitting, getting three safe bingles. Morici was the losing pitcher. The Aces will play the Zepps-Supers next Wednesday at 11 o'clock at Gaston Park field.

CY WILLIAMS
Year ago today: Bob Muncie of the St. Louis Browns, a two-hitter, beating the Cleveland Indians, 6 to 0, in a game played in Cleveland. 10 years ago today: Olin Dutra of California wins the U. S. Open golf title in play at Ardmore, Pa., beating Bobby Cruikshank, Bly, who was runner-up. 20 years ago today: Cy Williams hits a homer to win for Phils 4-2 over Cincinnati at Philadelphia.

The veteran Earl Browne, who is leading the Louisville Colonels of the American Association in batting and playing the best game of his career at first base, finds himself just about 67 feet from where he started in professional baseball. Browne, a Louisville high school grad, broke into pro ball as a left-handed pitcher with the Colonels in 1929. Sixteen years later he is back with the Colonels at first base which, to be exact, is 67 feet, seven and 11 16 inches from the pitcher's slab where he started. The veteran has been over a stinging road since that start. He has played for 12 clubs in 10 states. After five seasons on the mound, his desire to play daily led to a switch to the outfield. Three years later he made another move to first base, which he claims is ideally suited to him. Browne has "been around" in a baseball way, but all roads lead home and he is now a matter of 21 yards from where he started out.

Presbyterians Are Golf Loop Leaders

Church Golfers Have Second Matches At Castle Hills Course Thursday Evening

New Castle church golf league members enjoyed another round of golf last evening at the Castle Hills course with the First Presbyterians finishing in front for the evening and also in first place with two matches played, having 8 1/2 points. Secretary Morgan Jones, Sr., last evening announced that a mistake had been made in the Mahoning-Christians totals for the first night, and Mahoning is credited with 2 1/2 points to 2 1/2 for the First Christians instead of Christians 4, Mahoning 2 as was originally announced.

Jimmy Dart Medalist
Jimmy Dart with a sparkling 38 card was the medalist for the evening's event, with George Stutzinger's 39 good enough for runner-up. Others in the low scoring zone were "Spuzzer" Jarrett 40, A. Paytas 41, Elder Wallace 41, McGaffie 42, Lautenschlager 42.

Danny Litwhiler Gets Deferment

Star Outfielder Of Cardinals Placed In 2-A By Draft Board

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—(INS)—Danny Litwhiler, slugging outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday was reclassified by his Philadelphia draft board from 1-A to 2-A for "contributing to the public interest and health."

Board Chairman J. Kennard Weaver stated that Litwhiler was deferred in accordance with a selective service regulation of May 12 which provides that a person over 25 engaged in activities "in support of public interest or health" can be given a 2-A rating. He pointed out that the outfielder will be 28 in August and has a pre-Pearl Harbor wife and child.

"We found that baseball as a whole gave a sizeable sum to army athletic funds and also that they are giving exhibition games and playing camp teams," Weaver declared. "The big leagues have helped bond drives and arranged schedules for swine shifts, and the games are well attended by war workers and servicemen—the servicemen being admitted free."

The board found that Litwhiler was a top player who might say and was contributing to public interest and the big leagues contribute to public interests and health, and under that we gave him a 2-A.

"We believe he's doing a good job of it," Weaver said, "and we granted him the deferment strictly in accordance with regulations. If we didn't we'd have felt we were wrong."

Fair Or Foul

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, June 9.—Al (Bummy) Davis and Henry Armstrong have traveled long and winding trails over pugilists' ups and downs to meet finally next week at Madison Square Garden. Neither is going anywhere. Armstrong has been to the top and is clinging to the ragged outer edges of things by his time.

Davis never did make the grade but has managed to climb back into some prominence after each reverse.

Bring Back Memories
Davis probably saw Armstrong for the first time on the night of Oct. 29, 1939, when he, fresh out of the amateur ranks, fought the four-round curtain-raiser in his Garden debut, starting a show that wound up with Armstrong knocking out Pety Sarron for the world featherweight championship.

Both were featherweights on that occasion, but in the intervening years have blown up into welters for a 10-round clash with each other. Where have they been since that night five years ago?

Davis built himself up with a left hook to be regarded for a time as a potential champion, then one night against Fritz Zivic went completely berserk. He smashed Zivic low several times deliberately, kicked the referee, and got himself barred for what was to be a lifetime. Soon after he entered the army, he was given a return match with Zivic and was pounded out of shape in one of the most merciless exhibitions since fighters threw away brass knucks. Zivic got even that night.

Davis finally was discharged from the army and has punched his way back into favor.

Armstrong On Top
As Armstrong walked out of the Garden ring that night after punching Sarron full of holes, he was on his way to wearing three boxing crowns at one time.

He added Lou Ambers' lightweight title and Barney Ross' welter title to his list, fought Cefirino Garcia for the middleweight title, ran up a record-breaking string of straight knockouts, and rode the pugilistic world wide and handsome under the tutelage of the late Eddie Beef Stew Mead.

The Armstrong's titles slipped away. In his last defensive stand Fritz Zivic whacked him around and cut him up, and the end was nearing. His eyes were bad and had to be operated upon. He retired. Then made a comeback and retired again. He's on another of his several comebacks now, old and rusty and almost whipped down by the years and the men he has met.

Davis Still Good

Davis is younger and except for that terrible lacing which that same Zivic gave him never was man-handled too much. He still can punch. Armstrong is about out of gas.

And so they clash head-on finally as they come to the cross-roads of trails going in the same general direction—nowhere.

Davis is fighting because he is still young enough and hits hard enough to make money at the business. Armstrong is fighting because there isn't anything left to him. His fortune has been squandered long since, and only his durability enables him to continue climbing into rings all up and down the land and carry on in a business which he once dominated so completely that there was scarcely even a runner-up to him.

It may be a good, a great or a poor fight, but in any case it is going to be a vitally important one to the principals.

Sammy Byrd Has Sparkling Round

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—(INS)—Sammy Byrd, former big league baseball player, now pro at the Detroit Plum Holly country club, birdied six times in the opening day of the $17,500 war bond tourney to pace the field of 125 linksmen by two strokes today with a blazing 68—five under par.

Three-thousand spectators at the Torresdale-Frankford country club saw Byrd whip into a whirlwind finish in the last nine holes, while a dark house, Bob Hamilton, ex-caddy from Evansville, Ind., followed him by clipping three strokes from par for 32-36—68.

Bud Lewis, Philadelphia manufacturer, shot a 69 total while Harold (Jug) McSpaden, Philadelphia country club pro, trailed with Craig Wood, of Mamaroneck, N. Y. 1941 U. S. open champion, with 70's.

Schoolboy, Speed King

U. S. track and field athletics badly in need of a headliner to place it back in the top category of athletic competition for spectator attention, may have one in 17-year-old Charlie Parker, the new, unofficial "world's fastest human."

Parker, the schoolboy speed king of San Antonio, Tex., who has been undefeated in three years of competition embracing 50 races and who has run the century in 9.5 seconds, only a tenth of a second over the world record, is scheduled to headline the week-end of June 17 when he competes in the national A. A. U. track meet in New York.

Titans Arrange Game In Boston

NEW WILMINGTON, June 9.—Baseball may be the sport of the moment but that fact is not keeping Westminster College Athletic Director Grover C. Washbaugh from preparing for a big basketball season for his towering Titan quintet this fall.

Washbaugh revealed today that the Titans have been contacted to play in a doubleheader bill in Boston on a date tentatively set for February 8. The University of Arkansas has also requested a game with Westminster on the local floor on December 18 when the Arkansas quintet will be passing through on its way East.

The Titans have also booked games with Carnegie Tech and Wash-Jeff, a tentative contest with the University of New Mexico here January 4, and engagements in Buffalo, N. Y. and Madison Square Garden.

STOCK MARKET HOLDS STEADY

Public Continues Buying Of Low Priced Motor And Motor Accessory Stocks

NEW YORK, June 9.—(INS)—On this fourth day of the invasion the stock market held steady in dull listless dealings, aside from continued buying of low-priced motors and motor accessory shares.

Packard was again prominent on large volume and registered a modest gain. Willys, another feature changed hands at around last night's closing price.

Amusements, aviation, foods, oils and other groups did little either way although various issues in these sections were active at intervals and scored modest gains.

National Distillers chalked up a slight advance on light dealings. Stewart Warner in the motor accessory group was also active at fractionally higher prices.

Curb stocks were quiet but firm. Rail bonds became active.

Flag Day To Be Observed

Thousands Of Communities Prepare For Special Ceremonies On June 14

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 9—Thousands of communities throughout the nation are preparing for special and spectacular ceremonies for the celebration of Flag Day June 14, under the terms of the President's proclamation.

These special ceremonies are being used as a means for the increased sale of War Bonds as a tribute to the flag which is leading the invasion armies into the "slave" countries of Europe for their common liberation.

Special programs are being arranged particularly by organizations whose members are of recent foreign origin and emphasis is being placed on heavier War Bond buying and the team work necessary for winning the war, backing the attack and establishing a lasting peace.

Almost every governor of the 48 states has issued similar "Flag Day" proclamations, while thousands of Mayors and other municipal heads are arranging programs to give proper recognition to "Old Glory."

Church organizations, service clubs, lodges, women's clubs and numerous other organizations are planning special celebrations, with a background of War Bond sales to tie in with the special events planned for the day.

Many organizations are planning a "one day" War Bond drive among their members on Flag Day. Not every one can bear a gun or do war work, but everyone can buy war bonds and the Fifth War Loan slogan of "buy more than before" is being stressed in an effort to run up a record today of War Bond sales on Flag Day.

Our fighting forces, as the President's proclamation points out, have carried the Stars and Stripes, the flag of liberation, to every continent on the globe during the present war. Our flag today flies in Africa, Australia, China, India, Burma, New Guinea, the Solomons, Italy, France and in every sector of the Western Hemisphere.

Daily Vacation Bible School To Start Monday

Salvation Army School Will Get Under Way Monday Morning In Citadel

Announcement was made this morning by Capt. Thelma Dundon of the Salvation Army, that the Salvation Army's annual Vacation Bible School will start on Monday June 12, at 9:30 a. m. in the Citadel, 120 North Jefferson street.

In addition to Bible study, there will be wood work, making of scrap books, coloring, and craft classes of all kinds, besides singing and other novelties.

An invitation has been extended to all children to attend and take part in the classes.

Places Open At U. S. Academies

Twenty-Fifth District Entitled To Two Cadets And Two Midshipmen In 1945

Places for two cadets from the 25th Congressional district will be available in 1945, at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, and two more places will be open at the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, according to an announcement from the War and Navy departments.

Applicants must be residents of Lawrence, Butler, or Beaver counties. Those who wish to compete in the necessary preliminary examination must notify Congressman Louis E. Graham, at Room 1628 New House Office building, Washington, D. C., not later than Tuesday, June 20. Because of the large amount of work before the commission, applications received after June 20 cannot be considered.

Age And Physical Qualifications
All candidates are eligible for West Point from the day they are 17 until the day when they become 22, unless they are in the army. In that case, they must be 19 before they can qualify. Applicants must be not less than 5 feet, 6 inches tall.

Applicants for the midshipman vacancies must be not less than 17, nor more than 21 years old on April 1 of the year of entrance. Qualifying examinations for both academies will be given by the U. S. Civil Service commission on Saturday, July 29, 1944. Appointments will be based on the results of these examinations, but before taking the tests, applicants should have a thorough physical examination. Otherwise, a candidate may be nominated and passed, only to be rejected by the medical officers at the academies because of the exacting physical requirements.

Appointments Based On Tests
These preliminary mental tests given by the Civil Service Commission at the request of Congressman Graham, are for the designation of candidates to the academies, not for their admission. The tests will be given in the Federal buildings in the different counties, and each applicant will be notified about the time and place. There will be no need of a personal interview, as the appointments will be based on the results of the examination. Those interested should write at once for an application blank.

St. Vitus Church Triduum Services

Services Held In Preparation For Feast Of St. Anthony On Tuesday, June 13

A three-day triduum of services in preparation of the Feast of St. Anthony will start at St. Vitus church Saturday evening, continuing Sunday and Monday, with the solemn closing being held Tuesday evening.

For the past 13 consecutive Tuesdays solemn novena devotions to St. Anthony were conducted in two services at 6:30 and 8 o'clock. The closing of the novena will be held on the Feast of St. Anthony, June 13, and the three-day triduum of prayers are being conducted in its preparation, with services being held at 6:30 and 8 o'clock each evening.

All persons making the novena are bound to receive holy communion sometime during the triduum, in order to fulfill the novena requirements. Persons unable to make the solemn novena may attend for the three-day triduum services and the solemn closing.

On Tuesday morning solemn high mass will be offered at 7 o'clock and two following high masses will be offered at 8:30 and 9:30 o'clock. Tuesday evening there will be two solemn closing services of the novena, at 6:30 and 8 o'clock, and the papal blessing will also be given by Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita at this time. Rev. Fr. Albert M. Infeso, assistant pastor, will assist at these services.

For this occasion the shrine of St. Anthony will be appropriately decorated. At this time more than ever, there is an urgent need for prayers, and it is the fervent hope of the pastor, Father DeMita, that devout will attend to offer prayers for a speedy victory and peace, and also for the boys now in combat in the invasion areas.

Passenger Train Design Changed

PITTSBURGH, June 9—(INS)—A Westinghouse engineer has designed a "three-in-one" passenger train, driven by a packaged electric power unit that can be quickly detached and replaced, and which will provide swifter, roomier and quieter service for postwar commuters.

Planned for maximum passenger space and easy maneuverability the train will be made up of three interlocking sections, a passenger car at each end and a compact, walled-off compartment in the center containing a Diesel engine, electric generator and control equipment.

No overhead wires are necessary since the power package contains all that is necessary to furnish power for the electric motors which drive the train.

Janice Graham Goes On Trial In Mercer Monday

MERCER, June 9—(INS)—An indictment charging blonde Janice Graham with all three brutal deaths on the Everett Wilson dairy farm was handed down Thursday by the Mercer county grand jury.

The jury of 11 men and six women reached its decision Wednesday but sealed it in order that it might be handed down Thursday along with a number of other decisions.

The 20-year-old girl is scheduled to go on trial Monday. District Attorney Edwin C. Moon said all three murder indictments would be tried at one time with Assistant District Attorney Donovan Henry serving as prosecutor. Moon has withdrawn from active participation in the case because his law partner represents Miss Graham.

The girl is free under $10,000 bond at present. Women who use a lipstick brush find that they can get the lipstick on the brush easier, faster, smoother by using lipstick which has been melted down into a small jar.

Erie Woman Has Souvenirs Of War

ERIE, Pa., June 9—(INS)—Mrs. Mary Liebel, of Erie, has a large and diversified collection of World War II mementos.

They've come to her from almost every fighting front and most of them from young men she has never met.

The souvenirs, all of them unsolicited, have been coming to her for almost two years and are an expression of thanks for the monthly newspaper she supplies service men and women.

The paper, which is written, edited, printed, addressed and mailed without charge, is a newsy little sheet, often ten pages thick. Once a month the paper goes out into the mail and the entire expense, except for a few dollars occasionally given by friends, is paid by the publisher.
